

Leagues Return To Action

By David Norman

Most leagues that finished the first half of their split season or took a break for the holidays have resumed action this week. The hiatus for many leagues did not affect performance however, as there were some good scores shot last week.

During Monday's Galaxy Classic league, Shawn Barton rolled the front eleven strikes, then left a single pin on his last ball to finish with a 299 game. Later in the week on the Thursday Outcasts league, Richard Rogers accomplished the very same feat.

In the same Thursday league, Daelyn White combined three good games to finish the evening with a 794 series, falling just short of the coveted 800 honor score. This series was the highest bowled for the week at Galaxy.

Margaret Tilsley rolled the highest women's game from all leagues last week with her 223 during the first night back on the TGIF league. Haley McDowell put together the top three game series for all women last week, shooting 615 during the Galaxy Classic league.
